President's Report

Bradley Stone

2022 has been a great year for the club, as we've maintained our high membership numbers, expanded our games collection, and continued to host game nights and magic drafts.

This year, our members have been as numerous as ever. As of today we are one member short of last year, making 2022 our second-highest membership count to date. Interestingly, the club has seen a decrease in Engineering students, decreasing from 29% to 20% of the club's membership over the last year. This leaves Science and Humanities students our largest club demographics. Fascinating!

Both market days this year were successful in recruiting new members, presumably due to our near-Faustian offer of discounts at our partner stores: Dark Magician Games, Good Games, Netherworld, Big Play Games, The Dice Spot, Irresistible Force, Nexus Games, BrisVegas Comics & Games, Games World, Mind Games, Presents of Mind, Comics Plus, Game-traders, More than Meeples, Vault Games and the now-defunct 2d6 Games. As such, this year has seen first-years composing 40% of club membership. This bodes well for the future of QUGS, and I hope to see many returning faces in 2023.

QUGS continues to expand our games collection. This year we have purchased several new games and expansions and have been donated some from our members. New acquisitions include The Quest for El Dorado, Betrayal at the House on the Hill 3rd edition, Decrypto, Cockroach Poker, Wingspan: Oceania and TI (Treasure Island). I would like to thank all QUGS' members for your continued support of the club, especially those who regularly attend our weekly game/draft nights, and I look forward to another year of epic gaming with you all.

Secretary's Report

Jzi Sinn Tan

Members of QUGS, it has been such an honour to serve all of you! This will be my second and final year as the QUGS Secretary, and I am extremely pleased and proud to report that QUGS has steadily maintained its growth since last year. In 2022, we have acquired a total of 254 members, 226 of which are UQ students while the other 28 people are non-UQ students and clinched 16 partnerships with various games stores around Brisbane.

Once again, in spite of the challenges QUGS had to face in a post-pandemic world, our executive committee did an exceptional job in going toe-to-toe with last year's membership record and ensuring that every QUGS session ran smoothly with no interference. Fortunately, with occasional disruptions from the COVID-19 pandemic and flash floods, QUGS was able to proceed with both semestral Market Days this year, and that was when majority of our sign-ups happen.

This time, the preferred method of payment was stripe, with an estimated 63% of the memberships being paid via stripe. The first years, sitting at 40%, made up the largest fraction of our membership sign-ups while the fifth years and above made up the smallest fraction at 5%. The percentages of our international students rose from 2021 in the aftermath of the COVID-19 pandemic, from 8% to a whopping 25%, and the domestic students comprised of 75% of our memberships. We were right in estimating that memberships from offshore students would increase following the ease of covid restrictions overseas.

Though I am feeling slightly melancholic about my resignation as Secretary, I am extremely grateful for the leadership opportunities that QUGS has provided me and confident that my replacement would do an excellent job. I would also like to praise Blaire and Alexa for being impressive team players, they made every meeting awesome and smooth. I have no doubt that in the coming year, the new committee will take QUGS to further heights and accomplish greater feats.

Thank you so much to all QUGS members, new or renewed, who have supported us in our journey thus far, and I humbly ask you for your continued support as the new QUGS committee enters the new year in 2023.

Treasurer's Report

Mairah Zulkepli

Hello everyone,

We passed audit, so the club survives another year! We expect a sizeable profit of $1827.92 for this calendar year, which is largely thanks to us maintaining last year's membership numbers.

We made several game purchases, which we expect to have covered by a Union grant. We have not sold any games this year and the coffins and our boxes/shelves are getting rather full – next year's committee will need to either spend on upgrading our storage or decide what games to sell.

Expenses
Catering	$417.34
Equipment	$96.23
Expansions (covered by grant)	$49.99
Games (covered by grant, estimate)	$252.97
Promotional	$179.97
TOTAL	$693.54

Income
Membership	$2,221.46
Grants – startup	$300.00
Grants – additional	$352.96
TOTAL	$2,521.46

Thanks to Bradley for the website and Twilight Imperium organisation, and thank you to the members for the enjoyable events this year.

General Business

Members of the club raised two important questions:

1. Is it in the club's best interest to hoard the money in the bank account and not spend some of it?
2. Regarding game storage, is it viable to get a third coffin?

A discussion was held, and the following agreements were reached:

1. It is wise to have some money in the club's bank account as a rainy-day fund. There is no pressure to unnecessarily use it for the sake of doing so.
2. A swap system was introduced. Every week or so, the club could swap out the board games in the current two coffins. This way, there will be more variety and discovery of new games for the members, and the executives would be able to gauge which games are more popular and consistently include them in the rotation.

Meeting Closed at 7:10pm.
